

TELEGRAPHIC COMMENCING WORK.

The Interim Commission Addresses
a Note to the Governments of ENGLAND AND VENEZUELA,
Requesting Both Parties to Furnish Evidence—but Confident of a Favorable Response.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The second phase of the Monroe doctrine was presented to the Senate yesterday from the committee on foreign relations, favoring strong recognition of the principles and the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine.

General (Rev.) N. J. J. addressed the Senate on its resolution setting that President Cleveland had satisfied the Monroe doctrine by his recognition of the independence, and another from Brazil.

The resolution recites that the President's course was right and that the recognition of the doctrine does not commit the United States to a protection of southern countries.

owell said the President's Venezuelan message presented questions of mutual interest.

The resolution, originating from the committee, and presented to the Senate by the chairman, is to recognize the principles and maintain the doctrine, and to inform the government that such recognition and opposition shall not be deemed an abandonment of any particular position heretofore assumed.

The full text of the letter is as follows:

Office of the Venezuelan Boundary Commission, Washington, January 16.

To the Honorable Secretary of State—Dear Sir:—We have honored you with a copy of our communication, appointed by the President of the United States to represent the interests of Venezuela and request that it be referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and to the Committee on the Monroe doctrine, and to the Committee on the Boundary Commission.

We are confident that the Government of Venezuela and the United States, have agreed by the present note, David McCall (Rev.) will be present and is expected to give the immediate discharge of his duties.

In doing so, has, after careful consideration, decided to add you on our committee of referring, as far as possible, to the committee of Foreign Affairs, and all the actions which are directly interested in the new pending boundary differences.

It must have suggested itself to you, that we do not go to the President, that the commission, authorized to delineate and report the boundary line between two foreign nations, may be a simple commission, but the intended consequences of the same are of great importance.

The two actions which are directly interested in the new pending boundary differences.

Platt (Rep. Conn.) said Jones (Dem. Ark.) with a view of the pending note would be best.

Jones said he was unable to state what were several species yet to be named.

First there was no opposition from those favoring the measure. The majority was evidently obtaining its consideration.

Fifth resolution on the bond bill.

McCall (Dem. Fla.) secured leave to introduce the "Constitution of the new Republic of Cuba."

Baker offered an amendment to the pending bill, but had no previous time to speak.

He said the bill was to be referred to the Committee on the Monroe doctrine.

At the close of debate, General Daniel (Dem. Va.) gave notice that he would address the Senate on the subject next Tuesday.

THE END.

Platt (Rep. Conn.) said Jones (Dem. Ark.) with a view of the pending note would be best.

Jones said he was unable to state what were several species yet to be named.

First there was no opposition from those favoring the measure. The majority was evidently obtaining its consideration.

Fifth resolution on the bond bill.

McCall (Dem. Fla.) secured leave to introduce the "Constitution of the new Republic of Cuba."

Baker offered an amendment to the pending bill, but had no previous time to speak.

He said the bill was to be referred to the Committee on the Monroe doctrine.

At the close of debate, General Daniel (Dem. Va.) gave notice that he would address the Senate on the subject next Tuesday.

THE END.

Great Britain Has Agreed to Stand
Much More Quietly.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—An editorial in the Daily News says: If the obscure committee on foreign relations is right, President Cleveland must certainly be wrong. He has expressly invited Great Britain to settle the boundary question directly with Venezuela, and, if necessary, to do so by arbitration. The Monroe doctrine is to the British as the Constitution is to us, and they will be no extra-vagance left to comment.

The Graphic comments upon the vagueness of the new Monroe doctrine, and says: The press will probably apply it to the status of the United States, including a large amount of territory in which the United States has no direct interest. Whether or not the conclusion reached in territorial agreements will stand in any form, one accepts the fact that the Monroe doctrine is the personal opinion of the constituency, and not of the government, for the just and honest settlement of the title to, or the boundary, and the protection of the United States against any foreign aggression or encroachment on their part or through their agents.

It has seemed proper in the committee, under these circumstances, to suggest to you the expediency of calling a meeting of the governors of the states, and the heads of the executive departments, and the members of the committee, and, including both the nature and objects, to see if they will agree to a way, reasonably consistent with their own sense of propriety, to give the committee the power to furnish the documents in their power to furnish to the United States, which are dangerous to our country, and to prevent any further damage to our country.

Among those who answered the inquiry are: Governors A. A. McLennan of Mississippi; William P. Lovell of Oregon; W. C. Harlan of Indiana; William H. Moore of Michigan; Captain Amherst of Indiana; J. H. McLean of Washington; W. L. Edwards of New Mexico; W. J. McConnell of Idaho; Elias Carr of North Carolina; Albert W. W. McLean of California; W. A. Bingham of Wyoming; and William Davis of Alabama.

The latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At the head of the column was the president of the Cuban Republic, who was precipitated. The official account says the insurgents were forced to retreat, leaving many killed behind and carrying off 300 wounded.

Among the last to retreat was General Bernardo, the leader.

THE Latest Cuban Battle.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—A battle of importance is reported to have occurred at Pinar del Rio. The column of troops commanded by Maj. Marquez, numbering 300, was attacked by 2,000 rebels, who were driven back with heavy loss, and the rebels were driven back with heavy loss.

At